

Opening Remarks India's economic slump could be the impetus for needed reform 12

Bloomberg View Interagency turf battles delay Dodd-Frank • What Egypt's liberals can do 14

Global Economics

Despite the violence in Egypt, investors appear to be betting on the regime to bring stability 16

Korean shippers test an Arctic route to Europe 18

Mexico's president wants to end a ban on foreign participation in the country's oil industry 19

In Moscow's mayoral election, a contest between two Russias 19

Correlations: The graying of the tiger economies doesn't necessarily mean slower productivity 20

Charlie Rose talks to former Bank of Israel Governor Stanley Fischer 21

Companies/Industries

Lawyers who took on Big Tobacco are now targeting "sugar-free" treats 22

In Ghana, funerals are becoming so elaborate that insurers are making a killing on burial policies 23

London's Savile Row is having a bespoke identity crisis 26

Briefs: J.C. Penney's bummer of a summer 27

Politics/Policy

FEMA's new flood maps pressure thousands of homeowners to jack up their houses 29

The man in the way of an airline megamerger 30

Teaching drug dogs to stop smelling pot 31

Public prayer heads to the Supreme Court 32

Hidden Hand: The insurance expert behind Obamacare 35

Technology

Twitter co-creator Ev Williams builds an online home for long-form writing 37

A rumble between Chinese Internet giants Alibaba and Tencent 38

Three frustrated gamers create software that downloads Web pages faster 40

Rumors of an iPhone fingerprint ID prompt gains in biometric stocks 41

Innovation: A home security device that talks to your smartphone 42

Markets/Finance

The fading allure of stock splits 45

Florida's housing recovery gets a boost from foreign cash 46

Rising stock and home prices put the Obama administration on bubble alert 47

The downside of Israel's upgrade from emerging to developed market 48

Bid/Ask: Blackstone bids a profitable goodbye to London's Broadgate office complex 49

Features

Second Coming How Steve Case went from corporate punch line to valued Washington adviser 52

Offing the Grid Decentralized homegrown green energy is making power utilities irrelevant 58

Gospel of Lee Kai-Fu The tech idol—and indefatigable tweeter—aims to lift China's creativity 64

Etc.

Journeyman tennis player Michael Russell has managed to make a long career out of losing 71

Tech: An earful on six pairs of headphones to meet a range of musical needs 74

Happiness: What neurosurgeons, FBI agents, and water treatment plant operators have in common 76

Crime: The glass ceiling extends to corporate fraud as well 77

The Critic: How Steve Jobs and other tycoons have fared with the Hollywood treatment 78

What I Wear: Architect Kasia Zielonka likes to play with color—and not having a closet helps with that 79

How Did I Get Here? Sheila Johnson on moving from BET to hotels, sports ownership, and producing The Butler 80

Cover Trail

How the cover gets made

