

Bears repeating
Zoos are looking for Knut-worthy successors p85

Opening Remarks

6

The Enforcer The deficit debate is Grover Norquist's triumph, and greatest test

Bloomberg View Recalculating at the IMF; how to stop the next Fukushima; leery of the LinkedIn IPO

p8

Global Economics

10

Greek Default?

European banks, still reeling from the financial crisis, aren't ready for the losses

On the Mississippi: Navigating a natural disaster p12

Now Indian outsourceers feel a labor squeeze p13

Tom Keene's EconoChat p14

Brazilian wax and inflation p14

The week ahead p16

Companies & Industries

18

Deconstructing Duds

Clothesmakers are cutting costs by making invisible nips and tucks

Tesco: Trouble in the U.S. p20

Johnnie Walker's long march to the mainland p21

News Corp. wants to settle p21

CEO words of wisdom to the Class of 2011 p22

Charlie Rose talks to Roger Penske p24

Politics & Policy

27

Found State Revenues

Rebounding tax collection may blunt the states' drive to cut spending—or not

Hamlets may have to merge p28

FEMA's new face p29

Wall Street's man in Jefferson County p32

A guide to the states' official distractions p33

Technology

35

Apple's Music Cloud

Its media locker system may strengthen its lock on music downloads

Towerstream's plan to soup up Wi-Fi in New York p36

A post-Fukushima rebound for Toshiba p38

Innovator: A watchdog for your credit-card bills p39

Markets & Finance

41

Egypt's Real Estate Rebel

Hamdy El Fakhrany is uncovering corruption and upending the market

Bill Stirtz is the best dealmaker you never heard of p42

Tony Hayward: Beyond BP p43

Prepaid cards are banks' new money machines p44

Hitting Hong Kong for IPOs p46

Bid & Ask: The week's deals p47

Entertainment Tech

49

Scoring the Right Seats

SeatGeek uses algorithms to spot bargains in the bleachers for sports fans and concertgoers

Getting a fix on Knicks tix p50

Even Angry Birds need an agent: Building a franchise for mobile game characters p51

Kickstarter gives indie filmmakers a finance boost p52

Licked? First-class mail keeps dropping while costs keep rising

Features

60

The End of Mail

The U.S. Postal Service is as old as the country, delivers 40 percent of the world's mail, and may be the world's greatest bargain. Unfortunately, it's also on the verge of collapse p60

America's Hottest Economist

Tyler Cowen has written the bestseller The Great Stagnation, keeps one of the most influential blogs, and reads way too many books p66

The New Highway Robbery

Boosting trucks laden with pharmaceuticals is a low-tech, low-risk road to riches for organized criminals p72

Etc.

85

The $140M Bear

The demise of the Berlin Zoo's Knut has set off a mad scramble to merchandise him—and come up with the next cuddly money magnet

The Office Lab What are your work shoes saying about you? p88

Hands On The season's best grill gadgets p90

Bespoke Made-to-order scents from perfumer Yosh Han p91

Sports Ambitious golf pros are moving to the greener greens of China p92

Stack Christopher Buckley picks the Gipper's brain via The Notes p94

Hard Choices Kraft's Irene Rosenfeld on taking the heat for Cadbury p96