

Elderflower Buzz
Bottlegreen's soda will class
up your cubicle lunch p80

Opening Remarks

8

The case for national sovereignty: How Sweden steered clear of the euro

Bloomberg View Leave debit-card fees alone; Ground a labor complaint against Boeing p10

Global Economics

13

Gullible Bond Market

History suggests bond investors, far from being clairvoyant, can be pretty dim about the future

There's gold in that old mine	p15
Khodorkovsky's warning	p16
Saudis first, OPEC second	p17
India fights power thefts	p18
Tom Keene's EconoChat	p20
Seven days ahead	p21

Companies & Industries

23

What Say on Pay?

Why investors rejected executive compensation at only a handful of companies

Double-teaming tumors	p24
Talbots's wrong turn	p25
H ₂ O: Texas' liquid gold	p28
Krispy Kreme rises again	p28
Japan's fuel-efficient ships	p30
Briefs	p32

Politics & Policy

35

Stuck at the Office

Millions of Americans, trapped in jobs they no longer want, could prove a powerful voting bloc

Herman Cain: A closer look at his pizza chain turnaround	p36
Costly going-away gifts for state retirees	p38
Ron Paul doubts how much bullion is in Fort Knox	p39

Ron Paul
Demanding an audit of gold reserves p39

Technology

41

Coin of the Geeks

Bitcoins, an untraceable new virtual currency, are exploding in usage, notoriety, and value

China's hot chip company	p42
One word for the new graduate: Haptics	p43
How startups create touchscreens with texture	p44
Innovator: A waterless car wash from the Mideast	p46

Markets & Finance

49

The Dow's Missing Stock

Shares of Apple, the world's leading tech company, are too pricey to be included in the index

Russia taps an ex-spy to forge its own Silicon Valley	p50
Investors cheer acquirers	p51
Short selling Chinese stocks	p52
Sky-high Valley real estate	p54
Bid & Ask: The week's deals	p55
Rose/Glenn Hutchins	p56

Erdoğan's Edge Turkey's economy grew by 8.9 percent last year p66

Features

58

Chemical Revolution

The drugs are fake. The highs are real. And the money is huge. From "incense" to "bath salts," synthetic drugs are semi-legal—for now p58

Turkey's Moment

Driven by fears of losing ground, voters just gave Prime Minister Erdoğan a third term. Is a First World future within Turkey's grasp? p66

Botnet Busters

FireEye, a mild-mannered Silicon Valley security firm by day, joins with tech giants after-hours to smash cybercrime syndicates p72

Etc.

77

Welcome to the Dark Age

Snooki sells it. A duchess sports it. And politicians positively glow. Spray tanning makes its mark

One True Thing Bottlegreen's Elderflower, a highbrow soda with low-cal appeal	p80
Bespoke For $1,375 a pair on up, a New York family business hand-sews footwear	p81
Golf Eight simple rules for letting your boss beat you	p82
Branding Alex Yemenidjian wants the Tropicana to be the best damn pretty good hotel on the Strip—and his bet on the middlebrow market seems to be paying off	p84
The Stack David Kamp on James Andrew Miller and Tom Shales's rollicking oral history of ESPN	p86
Hard Choices Market-moving analyst Meredith Whitney on her Bear Stearns call	p88