

How the cover gets made

Opening Remarks The Trans-Pacific Partnership is really about a trans-Pacific rivalry 10

Bloomberg View In North Korea, time to play good cop • Winning the U.K. but losing Scotland 12

Global Economics

Liberals take the reins in Alberta, the Texas of Canada 14

South Africa pulls the plug on its own revival 16

Russia's oil crash leads to a health-care crash 17

Also tucked into the TPP: New rules for digital commerce 18

Companies/Industries

Watch out, Whole Foods. Walmart and Costco have figured out the quinoa thing 21

The boss says go away. (He's being nice) 22

Recalls save lives, but they're not mandatory for 121 million American cars 23

Pirates use TV set-top boxes to score on soccer broadcasts 24

Briefs: Volvo heads south; Virgin gets physical 25

Politics/Policy

Private jet: Status symbol or deathtrap? 26

Utilities' dark money casts a shadow over solar power 27

How bumblebees make farmers happy 28

The ERs that aren't part of hospitals 30

Technology

Despite a new CEO, Cisco is still reminiscing about its glory days 32

Up is down, night is day, and Apple's watch runs on a Samsung chip 33

Daimler's self-driving truck promises an end to white-line fever 34

In buying AOL, Verizon clearly wanted to get its hands on HuffPo. Just kidding 35

Innovation: Vaccination without needles, the best idea ever 36

Markets/Finance

Wesley Clark: First in war, first in peace, first in the penny-stock market 39

Buffett turns "weapons of financial mass destruction" into "frosting on the cake" 41

Investors seeking the next Silicon Valley turn to India 41

Murdoch spruces up Realtor.com to take on Zillow 42

Bid/Ask: Picasso and Giacometti set records at Christie's; pipeline operator Williams streamlines 43

Focus On/Small Business

In "natural" vino, is there really more veritas? 45

The Hirshleifer sisters will keep the business in the family—if the family wants it 46

At Ziferblat cafe, the java's free, but the seat will cost you 48

Big Dairy's suit to bring down Swedish oat milk backfires (sorry) utterly 50

Small to Big: Moleskine's little black notebook enters the digital dimension 52

Features

Elon Musk's Go Fever PayPal. SolarCity. Tesla. SpaceX. Mars 54

Arrest the Moms! Homeland Security cracks down on companies catering to "birth tourists" 64

Double Agent David Boies has built a new kind of law firm that argues both sides 68

Etc.

How two brothers invented a brand-new old brand with Herschel backpacks 75

Survey: Six creative types on the times when they work best 78

Beauty: Nail art goes minimal—and wearable at work 79

Drinks: At these new Tex-Mex restaurants, it's not all about the margarita 80

Critic: A documentary puts a face on Silicon Valley's sexism 82

What I Wear to Work: Hotel exec Bill Walshe is comfortable at "the younger end of age-appropriate" 83

How Did I Get Here? To get to the top, KeyCorp's Beth Mooney moved nine times in 16 years 84

1
"The cover's on Elon Musk. We have an exclusive excerpt from his new biography."
"That's great. So I'm guessing we'll do a heroic shot of him next to a rocket engine, or a heroic shot of him cruising in a sleek Tesla convertible. Or a heroic shot of him stuffed inside a prototype of the Hyperloop, if he has one."

"He never agreed to a shoot."

"Right, of course not."

"We do have a childhood photo of him, though. His mom gave it to us."

"This is very sweet. I wonder what he was thinking about."

"What were you thinking about at that age?"

"Mostly pudding."

"Let's assume he was a little more advanced."

