

Expense me
The inane things workers try to claim p69

Opening Remarks

6

The European Central Bank's Mario Draghi beat the odds to save the euro

Bloomberg View How to resolve the debt-ceiling crisis; the value of studying gun violence p8

Global Economics

11

The Magnitsky Case
A Russian lawyer's death triggers a worldwide hunt for millions in bogus tax refunds

Wage hikes reignite fears of inflation p13
Baghdad to Beijing: The Silk Road of oil p15
Pakistan's community chest p16
The week ahead p17

Companies & Industries

19

In-house talent scouts
More firms are handling their own job searches. Are headhunters an endangered species?

Cruising the mall for health insurance p20
The Chevy Volt is reborn as a Cadillac p21
A tennis star's candy land p22
Briefs: Facebook's search p23

Politics & Policy

25

Wanted: Death panelists
It won't be easy to find people willing to serve on the controversial Obamacare board

California's budget reboot p26
How Congress dismantled its own debt-ceiling fix p27
Companies compete to place products at the inauguration p31
Charlie Rose/Hilda Solis p32

Risky turn
Cantor Fitzgerald's CEO p40

Technology

35

Romance made easy
OkCupid's Crazy Blind Date takes the effort out of meeting people. Will this love app fly?

Redbox Instant tweaks the video-streaming model p36
Patent law research taps the wisdom of crowds p38
Obituary: How Aaron Swartz helped unify the Web p39

Markets & Finance

40

Cantor Fitzgerald trips
A push by CEO Howard Lutnick to diversify into investment banking goes awry

Africa calls to dealmakers p42
Your Bieber prepaid card awaits p43
Activism boosts hedge fund returns p43
Bid & Ask: Swatch expands p44

Legal intimidation Chelian says new laws may doom her abortion clinics p52

Features

46

The Dangling Man

A sprawling government investigation into insider trading keeps leading back to Steven Cohen's SAC Capital. An inside look at the probe and where it's heading p46

Regulating Away Abortion

Noisy pickets and violence are no longer the main threats to abortion providers. Laws passed in statehouses from Lansing to Topeka are p52

The Drug Detectives

Churning out fake drugs is a $75 billion business. Pfizer has staff detectives to help ensure your Viagra is real—and not made of brick dust p58

Etc.

63

Farewell, 30 Rock

The beloved NBC sitcom was a valentine to the joys and inanities of office life

Around the World The tax haven market for wealthy people and companies has exploded. Where to stow your dough p66

Job Search Thirty percent of companies report spotting fake references on résumés p68

Perks 2012's zaniest expensed items, starring a goat, a giraffe, and pink flamingos p69

Conspicuous Consumption Will Les Misérables bring back big movie musicals?; how to reinvent your personal brand; toilet humor in Movie 43 p70

Hard Choices Biogen Idec's CEO on giving up on a drug for Lou Gehrig's disease p72