

Opening Remarks The healthcare.gov rollout leaves big government looking like a big joke 14

Bloomberg View Reassuring Europe about spying • Immigration reform's best chance 18

Global Economics

China's economy cools, emerging-market demand slows, and global trade looks weaker 21

Companies come flocking to London as Britain cuts corporate taxes 22

Facing huge shortfalls in its pension system, China mulls raising the retirement age 23

Talk about a cashless society: In Sweden, even the homeless take plastic 24

Correlations: A bachelor's degree makes it less likely you'll be a bachelor 25

Companies/Industries

Tyson Foods knows you're headed to 7-Eleven. So it's sending its chickens there 27

Promised factory inspections in Bangladesh are way behind schedule 28

Newark to Singapore in 19—no, 24 hours, as turning a profit on ultralong nonstops becomes impossible 30

Starbucks develops a thirst for tea 30

Briefs: Toyota cruises back into first place 32

Politics/Policy

The CFTC: Overworked, underfunded, and struggling to keep watch over Wall Street 35

One woman's fervent message to East Boston: Keep the casinos out 36

Who's happy about Obamacare? Xerox, Dell, and others cashing in as health-care consultants 37

Congress stalls on immigration reform 38

A Bill: Putting a leash on the NSA 39

Technology

The University of Waterloo is the Stanford of the North 41

With production costs plummeting, get ready for a surge of cheap tablets 42

In Kenya, a drone is an elephant's best friend 43

To reposition itself as a business tool, BitTorrent taps into its musical roots 44

Innovation: Motion sensors that improve your golf, batting, or tennis swing 45

Markets/Finance

Five years after the financial crisis, banks are finally paying for their sins 47

Puerto Rico's borrowing binge could rock the muni-bond market 48

Falling oil prices may make it unprofitable to drill in Texas' Permian Basin 49

Brokers find it easy to edit their regulatory records 50

Bid/Ask: Vivendi takes full ownership of Canal Plus France 52

Focus On/Design and Technology

At Electrolux, design, R&D, and marketing intertwine, and hit products are born 55

Google Ventures offers design support to its portfolio companies 56

The phone sector needs a jolt. Maybe a build-your-own model will provide it 58

With new smart-clothes technology, you can literally click your heels and find your way home 59

Autodesk brings Elon Musk's vision of superfast travel closer to reality 60

Features

Trashing the Wireless Business Model Can John Legere make T-Mobile pay off? 62

A Nose for Terrorists iK9 tries to build a $200 million business on bomb-detecting dogs 68

Citibank's PR Coup New York's Citi Bikes may be the best marketing money ever spent 74

Etc.

At Digital Detox, tech addicts take long walks, do yoga, and survive, anxiously, without the Web 79

Beauty: Scents that make sense for the workplace 82

Spirits: The Guide to Urban Moonshining distills the risky business of making your own whiskey 84

Sports: Can marathoners train while holding down a full-time job? Mike Grollman can 85

The Critic: Alex Gibney's The Armstrong Lie serves up a Lance who's both calculating and pitiable 86

What I Wear to Work: Purple and orange don't scare BooneOakley's Greg Johnson 87

How Did I Get Here? How Rande Gerber won fame for something besides being Cindy Crawford's husband 88

Cover Trail

How the cover gets made

1 "Obama glitch"

2 "Obama error message"

3 "Obama glitch plus error message"

4 "Obama waiting to load"

5 "Obama picture recognition error"

6 "Obama spinning wheel of death"

Download Blippar app. Blipp on front cover. View video