

Bloomberg
BusinessWeek

In Depth

32 | The Humbling Of Toyota

Fast global growth and ambitious cost cuts simply didn't mix. Here's how it all went wrong.

38 | Revenge of The Cable Guys

In its fight against free online TV, Big Cable is leveraging the many billions it pays for programming to lock up all the content.

46 | Cereal Socialism In Venezuela

Support for Hugo Chávez hinges on subsidized staples, but now he's interfering with the food supply.

52 | Qatar on The Cusp

Its vast gas reserves are making some investors forget about Dubai.

57 | Caution: Stats May Be Slippery

Why claims of a steep decrease in U.S. worker injuries don't stand up to scrutiny.

60 | I Had the Goods On Madoff

An excerpt from the book No One Would Listen, by Harry Markopolos, who tried—and failed—to get the SEC to look closer at Bernie.

Manchester United's sky-high debt

The Week in Business

- 06 | Executive Summary Signs of economic stability; AIG deals again
- 13 | At the Table Charlie Rose talks to Speaker of the House Nancy Pelosi
- 16 | Numbers The skyrocketing cost of college—and its lasting benefits
- 19 | Business Outlook A more optimistic school of economic thought

New Business

- 21 | Greece: The Art of Negotiation In talks with the EU, Prime Minister Papandreou has played a weak hand beautifully.

- 24 | Interview with Papandreou The Greek leader goes on the offensive and discusses newfound EU solidarity
- 26 | Financial Folly Reformers—focused on a consumer protection agency—are ignoring the cause of the crisis, says Roger Lowenstein
- 27 | Imported Employers? A bill in Congress would open a door for foreign entrepreneurs
- 28 | Man U in Hock English soccer teams, after splurging on players, have piled up $4.8 billion in debt
- 30 | BW 50 Yoo-hoo, Google! How cities are vying for its superfast broadband service

Who says the U.S. stock rally is over?

What's Next

- 66 | Rally On, Stocks Three money managers who called the surge in equities back in early 2009 say there's more upside to come. One former bull begs to differ
- 68 | J&J Under Fire How the drug-maker's aggressive marketing set off an explosion of litigation
- 70 | Heart Crusade The Cleveland Clinic's Steve Nissen is still chasing a drug that raises good cholesterol and wards off heart attacks
- 72 | Guatemala's Mickey D Pollo Campero invades the U.S.
- 74 | Napa Grapes of Wrath Falling land values and changing tastes in wine are hitting the region hard

Personal Business

- 83 | Money Report Investors rush into global bonds; adding up 12 months of stock gains; the dirt on Tivo's win over Dish Network
- 84 | How To Play It Latin American stocks had a stellar '09. Are there still gains ahead for the region?
- 86 | Asian MBA Dreams Why so many U.S. and international B-school grads are looking to China for a career launchpad
- 89 | The Entrepreneur Option Risk-tolerant MBA students are starting their own companies
- 90 | Greener Pastures Graham Birch went from BlackRock hot-shot to sheep and dairy farmer

Jack Bogle has a suggestion for investors

Business Views

- 94 | Books Michael Lewis' new Wall Street saga: The Big Short
Robert Pozen: Too Big to Save?
- 98 | Tech & You iYogi.com offers tech support from afar

- 100 | Outside Shot Jack Bogle: How to overrule the Supreme Court on corporate political giving
- 08 | Corrections & Clarifications
- 99 | Index of Companies and Individuals

(TOP TO BOTTOM) PHOTOGRAPHS BY JON SUPER/AP PHOTO; JIN LEE/BLOOMBERG; ILLUSTRATION BY EDEL RODRIGUEZ