

Opening Remarks To reinvigorate its economy, Japan has to open up to foreign labor 14

Bloomberg View Fast-track trade leverage for Obama • Helping vets go outside the VA for care 16

Global Economics

In Latin America, a great divide between east and west 18

The Chinese thirst for milk gives the U.S. dairy industry a boost 20

Indian power companies can't pull the plug on electricity thieves 21

London's answer to carbon dioxide pollution: Nitrogen dioxide pollution 22

Companies/Industries

Growing protests in Brazil put World Cup marketers in a quandary 25

The Cabbage Patch Kids are over 30, and their owner is working hard to rejuvenate them 27

With Smart, Daimler climbs into the back seat 28

As demand cools in China, Kinross Gold and other miners surrender their Nespresso machines and meat pies 28

Briefs: Good times for carmakers, bad times for coffee drinkers 29

Politics/Policy

Do the math, and Obama's carbon curbs don't look quite so impressive 31

Pine beetles are chewing up forests—and local economies—in the western U.S. 32

Does the U.S. have a double standard on trade with Iran? 33

The painless way to raise local revenue: Tax visiting pro athletes 34

Technology

Has SustainX stumbled onto a solution for storing renewable energy? 39

Ohio State's marching band picks up a new instrument: The iPad 40

The struggle to keep semiconductors free of Congolese conflict minerals 41

The drones are coming—and the race is on to figure out how to keep them from crashing into each other 42

Innovation: The Electric Imp's Wi-Fi cards connect appliances to the Web 43

Markets/Finance

Making the good life better for the 1 Percent 45

China's state-owned Citic shifts assets to raise its Hong Kong profile 46

Who has anything good to say about low, low interest rates? 46*

Goldman Sachs, World Cup prognosticator 48

For bondholders, Argentina isn't looking so scary anymore 48

Bid/Ask: Henkel's $368 million beauty play 50

Global Tech

Way Beyond Silicon Valley 52

Xiaomi, China's first great consumer tech company 54

How Hezbollah builds its brand 62

Finnish gamemaker Supercell takes the baton from Nokia 64

Living the mobile payments future in Kenya 68

The tennis coach in Babolat's racket 74

London's hungry worms 76

In Iceland, an earthly monument to a virtual galaxy 78

Streaming World Cup games via Major League Baseball 80

Waste not—and design a safer nuclear reactor 82

Behind the scenes at Infiltrate, the annual conference for hackers and Internet spooks 84

One man's hyper-quantified search for self 88

Getting from napkin sketch to gadget 90

Tankchair, the life-changing vehicle 92

DigitalGlobe's sharper eye in the sky 98

Park Sang Hak tries to incite revolution in North Korea, one balloon at a time 100

Where the Valley gets its brains 108

"What are we calling this issue?"

"The Global Tech Issue."

"What's in it?"

"There's a story on a massive cell phone company in China."

"A new high-tech satellite."

"A crazy wheelchair."

"And lots of other stuff."

"Great, we're done, then?"

"Let's try something more conceptual."

"This has to ship in three hours."

"Fine."