

Inner Nerd
Hedy Lamarr's
beautiful mind p102

Opening Remarks

6

Angela Merkel's inaction has brought Europe to the brink of disaster. What exactly is she thinking?

Bloomberg View Rakoff: Demanding sanity in the Citi deal; a congressman like no other p13

Global Economics

15

Prosperity or the Bomb

New sanctions on Iran may hurt, but with its oil money, the country is still a few steps away from a crisis.

Unrest hits Egypt's GDP	p16
Whither the 1%?	p17
Pakistanis head to the mall	p18
Tom Keene's EconoChat	p20
A nuclear debate in France	p20
The week ahead	p23

Companies & Industries

25

Late on the tarmac

American Airlines parent AMR filed for bankruptcy, prompting the question: Why did it wait so long?

For Hollywood, all the world's a place to premier	p26
An orphan drug haven	p27
Slimming down GE Capital	p28
Vodafone's garden wall falls	p30
Briefs: Facebook's IPO	p33

Politics & Policy

35

A pay raise for everybody

The President is pushing for a payroll tax cut. It's good politics. Is it good for the economy?

Michigan's plan to empty its prisons	p37
GOP governors have a deal for Democratic mayors	p38
A big, bad bunker buster	p40
Return of the Cheney-ites	p42

Anti-Grinch
A plan to boost take-home pay p35

Technology

45

Look, Ma, no hands!

Driverless cars, already able to navigate roadways, could be street-ready in less than a decade

Freezing shaky disk drives	p46
Retailers are losing the software talent wars	p47
Mozilla's mobile absence	p48
Innovator: Power shoes	p50
Charlie Rose/Marc Benioff	p52

Markets & Finance

55

An industry shrinks

Financial services this year could lose more than 220,000 jobs worldwide. They may not come back

As stock trading sags, brokers court option traders	p57
Boies goes out on a limb	p58
The fight to save Jefferies	p60
Junk ratings, high returns	p60
Bid & Ask: The week's deals	p61

Be my guest Nazarian has 32 properties in his empire—so far p74

Features

66

Pssst... Wanna Buy a Law?

When a company needs a state bill passed, the American Legislative Exchange can get it done p66

Sam Nazarian Wants You to Sleep With Him

The former playboy and reality-TV star aims to be America's next great hotelier p74

Fix This/Transportation

A panel of leaders rethink transportation for the 21st century p80

I'll Have What She's Having

New Belgium CEO Kim Jordan takes her microbrew national to parry Big Beer p88

Etc.

95

The Dirtiest Job on the Internet

Someone has to sanitize websites' comment boards. The toil and thick skins of online moderators

Behavior A taxonomy of rail commuters	p98
Next Life Dan Preston went from designing parachutes for the military to creating a chocolate factory in Brooklyn	p100
Statistics Causation or merely false correlation?	p101
The Stack A biography of Hedy Lamarr recounts how the 1940s screen siren's flash of genius paved the way to Wi-Fi	p102
Hard Choices Desiree Rogers, President Obama's former social secretary, on leaving the White House and her new job as Johnson Publishing's CEO	p104