

I am Spartacus!
When a mere marathon
is not enough p81

Opening Remarks

4

Any move to raise interest rates should be resisted. The stagnating U.S. economy's big worry is deflation. Let's keep America in the '30s—not Germany in the '20s—in mind

Global Economics

7

The price of tea in China
Mainland workers are suddenly finding life a lot more expensive than the official statistics indicate

Calls for drug legalization to quell Mexico's gang wars p9
U.S. housing turns toxic p10
Return of the Super Yen p10
Europe's widespread construction slowdown p11
Pro-baby policies in Japan p12
Tom Keene's EconoChat p12

Companies & Industries

15

Hospital power
California's Sutter Health has enough market clout to jack up prices and stare down insurers

Ari Bousbib's fond farewell from United Technologies p16
Why PotashCorp is now attracting suitors p17
Mizuno takes aim at the U.S. market for baseball gear p19
The new cancer therapies p20
In Brief p21

Politics & Policy

23

Rewiring Wall Street
Now that financial reform is law, regulators are up to their necks in meetings and impossible deadlines

Shrinking farm subsidies p24
The diverging economies of the U.S. and Europe p25
Athletes vying for office p26
Why New Zealand's farmers are swapping sheep for trees p27

Technology

31

Retailers' new best friend
How smartphone services that let shoppers check in when they enter a store can boost foot traffic

Microsoft's Halo juggernaut p32
Salesforce.com's social side p34
A service focus at Lexmark p36
Freescale hints at an IPO p36
Six degrees of Andreessen p37
Jimmy Lai's animated news p38

Markets & Finance

41

Private equity dog days
The $2.5 trillion industry is straining to raise new money and repair its battered image

A hurdle for Deutsche Bank's heir apparent p42
How the bond boom is rocking the mutual-fund industry p44
Islamic finance star p45
Optimism in commodities p45
Bid & Ask: The week's deals p46

Enterprise

49

The idea hunt
Multinationals are drawing in entrepreneurs with contests that offer prizes and partnerships

Varsavsky on arrogance p50
A health-tax-credit hitch p50
The best (and worst) countries for launching a business p51
In the U.S., it's getting harder to hire foreigners p54
Misrepresenting small biz p56

Christie's moment The New Jersey governor's rising national profile p68

Features

58

Gold Digger

Billionaire Thomas Kaplan is betting big on the metal: "We haven't yet begun the real bull market" p58

Akerson Grabs the Wheel at GM

On the eve of General Motors' IPO, another telecom tough guy slips into the CEO role. Right guy? p64

The Next Republican Action Hero

New Jersey Governor Chris Christie is a rising GOP star and champion of the New Austerity p68

Future of Tech: The Wild Bunch

Video game Red Dead Redemption is a huge hit, but it may not save the company that owns it p74

Etc.

81

Extreme Workouts for White-Collar Warriors

Adventure challenges like Spartan Race are testing the mettle of young financial professionals

Behavior A growing number of companies are encouraging their employees to lay down on the job and take a nap p84
Wealth Kris Jenner of T. Rowe Price on how he's picking biotech winners p86
Next Life A banker doubles down on fashion with a members-only retail website p87
Travel With the Venice Biennale of Architecture about to begin, here are some insider tips on making the most of a trip to the City of Bridges p88
The Stack Selling the Fountain of Youth traces the ascendance of botox and HGH p90
Hard Choices NBCU's Lauren Zalaznick on taking charge of Oxygen and iVillage p92