

How the cover gets made

Opening Remarks How Twitter tapped into a basic human impulse and became indispensable 12

Bloomberg View A light on shadow banking • Rumors of Europe's rebirth are exaggerated 16

Global Economics

Economists used to view all people as behaving alike. They're finally wising up 19

To modernize Saudi Arabia, the king needs the support of Qassim province's conservative Muslims 20

After a flare-up of Japan-bashing in China, Hondas and Nissans are selling again 21

Fewer working Americans. More retiring boomers. It's not a recipe for growth 22

Correlations: Globally, the rich get richer, the poor get richer, and the upper middle class doesn't 24

Companies/Industries

Lego meets the Digital Age—and some striking toys roll off the line 27

Santa's helper stirs a racial ruckus in the Netherlands 28

Gifts beneath the tree, stockings on the mantel—and nonstop NBA on the tube 30

'Tis the season for eggnog seltzer, candy cane-shaped pasta, and Pecan Pie Pringles 32

Politics/Policy

Even NASA can't help Toyota put its legal troubles in the rearview 35

The five-letter word that's giving Wall Street fits 36

The Obamacare promise the president never should have made 37

Why SEC employees are getting indigestion at lunch hour 38

Election Day After: Pot in Colorado, food labeling in Washington, the minimum wage in New Jersey 39

Charlie Rose talks to Nancy Pelosi 40

Technology

Brad Gerstner, a leader in online travel, lands in Silicon Valley with big VC dreams 43

Michael Dell has seen the promised land, and it's China—or so he thinks 44

As Valve launches a console, will fans of its PC games follow it into the living room? 45

Etsy, devoted to selling handmade goods online, is thinking bigger 46

Innovation: A quick-and-easy charge for tired electric cars 47

Markets/Finance

Netflix stock is flying. And the altitude makes some folks queasy 49

Blackstone bets on a recovery in Spain by snapping up real estate 50

Japan kicks the yakuza where it hurts, via the banks that hold their money 51

Stock market bargains are so rare that value mutual fund managers are letting cash pile up 52

Bid/Ask: SAC pays $1.8 billion to settle with authorities 53

Features

Best B-Schools of 2013 With online MBAs everywhere, success is no longer about showing up 55

A Work-for-Apple Nightmare Bibek Dhong needed a job. He ended up an indentured servant 66

The Real Wolf of Wall Street Jordan Belfort's journey from stock scammer to ardent ethicist 72

Etc.

Looking like a million for under a grand, courtesy of Suitsupply 87

Survey: Help for the weary business traveler, from fellow weary business travelers 90

Workplace: Why do companies bother with performance reviews? 91

Sports: Nobody loves the Big Ten more than Chicago bar owners 92

The Critic: Dana Goodyear's Anything That Moves chronicles stomach-churning trends in American cuisine 94

What I Wear to Work: Adrienne Bavar's PR agency specializes in fashion. Don't look for her in a T-shirt and jeans 95

How Did I Get Here? How Cosby, Oprah, and Jay-Z helped Lisa Price make Carol's Daughter No. 1 on HSN 96

1 "OK, I've got an idea."

"Brilliant! Let me hear it."

"We take the proprietary image of a famous magazine, redraw it sticking the Twitter bird's face on it."

"Fantastic! Let's do it!"

~~~~~ (An amount of time passes) ~~~~~

2 "It's done. Look!"

3 "I love it."

"OK. So that's done. We've got a big issue next week, so this saves me some time."

~~~~~ (More time passes) ~~~~~

4 "So. The lawyers have seen the cover. They're not into it."

"Whhhhaaat?"

"In fact, we can't even show it in the Cover Trail. You'll have to pixelate it."

"Jeez. The law blows. OK. So what next?"

"Well, how about we pretend it's 1920, when people were full of class and sophistication, and we imagine we're Henry Luce doing a cover about bird fancying or something. Except—get this—except the bird is the Twitter bird."

"Sounds plausible."

5 "Send it to the printers."

Download Blippar app. Blipp on front cover. View video