

Patriotic Taste
The Fourth of July is bursting with tchotchkes p97

Opening Remarks

10

Building a strong economy: Is government the solution, the problem, or does it matter at all?

Bloomberg View Why Europe's Greek dilemma isn't over; kill the mortgage tax deduction p12

Global Economics

15

Thai Political Drama

Investors may be leery of the turmoil, but longtime multinationals shrug it off—and thrive

Kill the minimum wage?	p16
Only Saudis need apply	p17
Tom Keene's EconoChat	p17
Frugal Japanese wives	p18
Seven days ahead	p19
Rose/Brazil's Fraga	p20

Companies & Industries

23

Top Gun Lori Gobillot

Her task at United Continental: Cobble together the world's biggest airline

Fired-up bosses crack down on smokers	p24
At 100, IBM isn't alone	p25
Nestlé's new formula: Espresso for the diaper set	p26
Briefs	p27

Politics & Policy

28

Alabama's fix-it men bolt

A new law is chasing away illegal workers the state needs for tornado repairs

One man's quest to get Quest Diagnostics	p30
Google: The antitrust probes keep coming	p30
Deadbeat Illinois	p31
Oddball state budget cuts	p32

Technology

34

LinkedIn 2.0

CEO Jeff Weiner, the face of tech euphoria, needs to keep his newly rich workers focused

New Relic wants to do away with the sales force	p36
The designer pulling Barnes & Noble into the e-reader era	p38
Innovator: The gnarly creator of surfers' favorite camcorder	p39

Markets & Finance

41

A North Miami fiasco

Even by the standards of the housing bust, Biscayne Landing is a mess

A bet against short-selling Chinese stocks	p43
Bondholders fret about Sears's burn rate	p44
Can Greece raise $71 billion from state-owned assets?	p45
Bid & Ask	p46

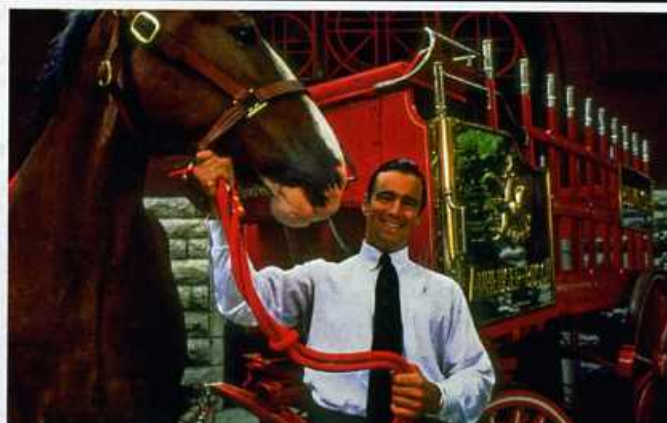

Enterprise

49

Rx for an eyewear startup

The four Wharton grads behind Warby Parker use hipster ambassadors to sell cheap glasses online

Cash-rich companies try their hand at venture investing	p51
Where corporate VCs are placing their bets	p51
Qliance brings concierge health care to the middle class	p52

August Busch IV in 1991, when Budweiser was king p64

Features

54

Success Is Never Having to Say You're Sorry

From the day its Deepwater Horizon rig exploded, Transocean has denied wrongdoing, deflected blame, and paid dividends, not cleanup costs. So far, its hardball strategy is working p54

Fall of the House of Busch

It took four generations of Busches to build Anheuser-Busch, one of America's most storied companies—and only one for it to fall apart p64

Master of the Game

The $25 billion video game biz generates twice as much as Hollywood's box office. Could that make Jeff Hilbert the world's most powerful agent? p72

Etc.

89

You Barf, You Lose

With dozens of annual events and corporate sponsors, Major League Eating is a gurgitating behemoth

Fashion From the boardroom to the Hamptons, gingham is cool	p92
Show Business Post-Borat, Kazakhstan is churning out "blockbusters"—a strategy key to President Nazarbayev's plan to foster some sort of national identity	p94
One True Thing Romowa's Salsa Deluxe roller bag has the durability of a hard case and the agility of a duffel	p96
Spinoffs Nothing says America like marketing	p97
Box Office Horrible Bosses: Justifying a murderous end	p98
Hard Choices Leslie Blodgett on shedding her Bare Escentuals CEO post	p100