

Opening Remarks Judging students by SAT scores isn't very smart 16

Bloomberg View The GOP's much-needed day of reckoning • Confronting racism in Greece 18

Global Economics

China's president turns back the clock, and the Communist Party elite put away their Rolexes 20

Happy days are here again for wealthy Japanese retirees 22

The Fed sows confusion by ignoring its own signals to tighten policy 23

Looking at the sun, the moon, and the stars to chart the markets in India 24

Correlations: Is everybody happy? In Denmark, says the UN's World Happiness Report, pretty much 26

Charlie Rose talks to Lakhdar Brahimi, the UN special envoy to Syria 28

Companies/Industries

For truck makers, the road to success runs through Texas 31

Real men use moisturizers. And eye creams. And exfoliating scrubs 32

A sweet alternative for tobacco farmers 33

A Brooklyn brewer grows in Sweden 34

Briefs: The government shutdown puts some M&A on hold; Ford sales accelerate 35

Politics/Policy

Business has a bone to pick with "the party of business" 36

What's it like to shop for Obamacare coverage? Depends on where you live 38

The Affordable Care Act has fast-food chains fighting over the meaning of full time 40

If you give a bear a doughnut... 41

Technology

Facebook's cool new data center in Sweden puts the heat on hardware makers 42

Apple takes the top spot in Interbrand's annual Best Global Brands survey 44

While video-streaming fans love Roku, geek love may not be enough to stave off Apple and Google 44

As its TV business struggles, Sharp looks for greener pastures 45

Innovation: Teaching robots to pick up on social cues 46

Markets/Finance

Economic chaos looms. Wall Street says, "whatever" 48

Dodd-Frank fills small banks with the urge to merge 49

After the gold rush in South Africa, life among the tailings 50

Home is where the money is in China 52

Bid/Ask: A $900 million energy deal raises questions from regulators 54

Features

Eike Batista's Epic Fail How Brazil's richest man lost $34.5 billion in a year 60

BlackBerry Picker Canada's smartest investor wants to buy the ailing smartphone maker 66

Fix This/Retail Five experts on the forces reordering their industry—and where they shop 70

Etc.

Hard cider is having a moment. Is it any good? Three brew snobs rate seven popular brands 79

Review: Novelist Dave Eggers takes on Google and explores our compulsion to trade privacy for connectedness 82

Survey: Six successful multitaskers describe how they maximize their time after the workday's done 83

Fashion: Show some personality with a colorful pocket square 84

Tech: An app that lets you dine and dash without skipping out on the check 86

What I Wear: A Philadelphia communications director shows off her thrifty style 87

How Did I Get Here? Daniel Boulud on his path from 15-year-old apprentice to world-renowned chef and restaurateur 88

Cover Trail

How the cover gets made

① "Hmm... looks a bit familiar." "I have no idea what you're talking about."

② "This is sending me mixed messages."

③ "He looks like he's wearing makeup." "Also, the suit is vexing me."

④ "Better. Simpler. More direct."

⑤ "The photo is broken up since he's, um, falling apart. Get it?" "I see."