

Bloomberg Businessweek

Contents

October 31 — November 6, 2011
Bloomberg Businessweek

The Last Beer Frontier
Brewed for extraterrestrial consumption p94

Opening Remarks

14

Why the U.S. government's plans to auction off spectrum to wireless carriers won't help innovation

Bloomberg View The truth about flat-tax plans; it's time the Swiss stopped protecting cheats p16

Global Economics

19

Colombia's new pals
It's just signed a treaty with the U.S. as China and Canada are strengthening trade ties

Swiss gold, spiced up p20
Euro crisis: Who's who p21
Tom Keene's EconoChat p22
Turkey's credit-card crunch p23
The stubbornly strong yen p23
Seven days ahead p24

Companies & Industries

27

Retail hardball in China
Foreign businesses—including Wal-Mart—are facing what some say is protectionism

Two-way ads hit cable TV, but they may be too late p28
Fiat threatens to quit Italy p30
Why IBM hasn't gone the way of the tech dinosaurs p31
Briefs p32

Politics & Policy

35

Target: Obamacare
All the GOP candidates say they'll repeal the law as soon as they take office. It won't be so easy

How to invest in the 2012 election p36
Attack ads, early and often p36
Rick Perry's not-so-flat tax p38
Fatigue in the cockpit p39
Charlie Rose/Paul Volcker p41

Health Reform
Republicans take aim p35

Technology

43

Google's point of view
The search giant has strong ties to organizations that influence public opinion

The military wants biofuels p44
A midmarket content farm p45
Occupy Wall Street apps p46
Apple's Siri is moonlighting p47
Innovator: Kirk Cameron makes thrifter supercomputers p48

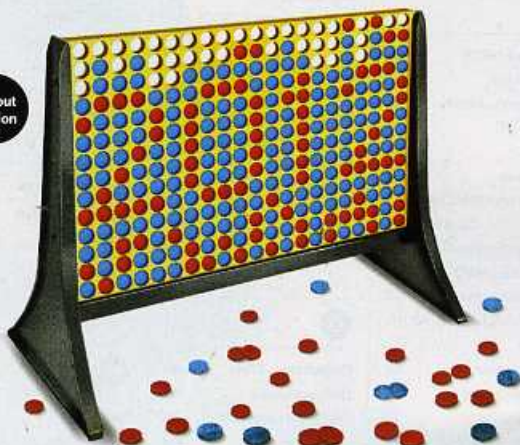

Markets & Finance

57

Buck up, investors
Playing it safe today almost guarantees that your portfolio will lose ground to inflation

Investing for risk-takers p58
Retirement realism p59
RIAs work for you, but protections are scant p60
Ads face up to the facts p61
2011's winners & losers p62

Pullout section

Bloomberg Government Insider

The lowdown on gaming the six states that will decide who wins the White House in 2012

Features

64

The Anti-Leader of Occupy Wall Street

How anarchist David Graeber helped a rally become a global force. Also: OWS isn't a hippie thing p64

Egypt's Unfinished Revolution

The story of four entrepreneurs and their struggle to keep a Cairo startup alive p74

The Billion Dollar Mountain

One of the biggest rare earth deposits in the U.S. is in the hands of a lone prospector in Alaska p80

Etc.

89

The Woman Behind @Shaq

Self-styled Twitter coach Amy Jo Martin has given Shaquille O'Neal more assists than Kobe

Next Life From McKinsey consultant to martial arts fight league founder p92
The One Is this the only belt you'll ever need? p93
Branding The promise of space tourism inspires two beer lovers to boldly go where no brewer has gone before p94
Survivor Guide Serve your white-collar prison time without going stir-crazy p96
The Stack A Nobel laureate's new book cautions us not to go with our gut p98
Hard Choices Walter Isaacson, author of the new biography Steve Jobs, talks about the difficulty of finding the truth behind his subject's reality distortion field p100