

Opening Remarks

10

Germany is questioning whether it still wants to be Europe's savior. Why that may be a good thing

Bloomberg View The Basel III banking rules don't go far enough; in defense of millionaires p15

Global Economics

17

Libya: Consultant invasion
The post-Qaddafi era is drawing some of the same security firms that worked in post-Saddam Iraq

Japan, six months later p18
Playing the inflation game p19
Rousseff's corruption stand p20
Prokhorov quits politics p22
Speed Dial: Australia's PM p24
Charlie Rose/Tony Blair p26

Politics & Policy

37

Facebook on the Beltway
New advertising tools from the social media giant are changing the way election campaigns are run

The tiny Alaskan town that stood up to Shell p38
Jobs and taxes p40
LightSquared's enemies p41
Why Libya's U.S. ambassador may seem familiar p42

Markets & Finance

52

Europe's banking squeeze
Higher borrowing costs. And if depositors and investors lose faith, things could turn ugly

Feud at Morgan Stanley p54
New Delhi's housing hitch p55
An idiot-proof portfolio? p56
The hedge fund handoff challenge p56
Bid & Ask: The week's deals p57

Companies & Industries

29

Netflix's future
With Hollywood charging more for movies, CEO Hastings made two bold and much criticized moves

Target's lost edge p30
The first in a line of tiny Mercedes p31
Texas: Water war is declared p32
Deere looks way east p33
Briefs p34

Technology

45

Groupon's archival
LivingSocial's CEO is busy dreaming up ways to differentiate his company from the industry pioneer

Harvey Mudd's high-tech gender shift p46
Crushing Angry Birds p47
Simpler cloud computing p48
Airport ads for techies p49
Innovator: Weather prophet p50

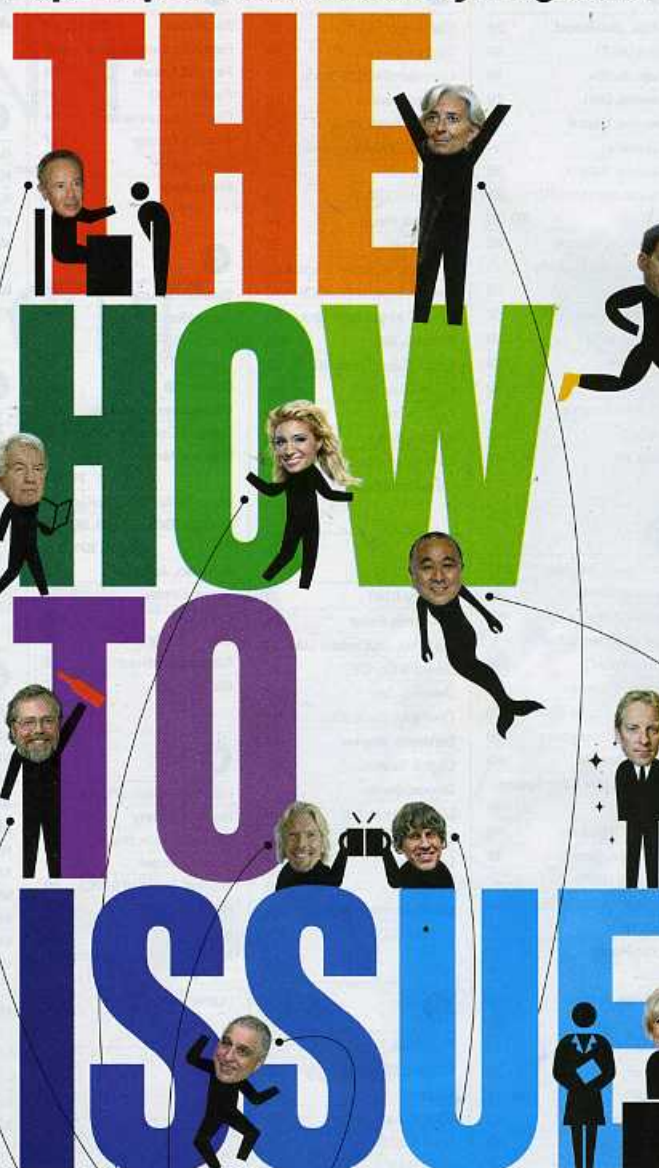

Health Care

59

The digital data bonanza
As doctors modernize their record-keeping, Silicon Valley is rushing to get in on the action

Speed Dial: Overseeing the U.S. push for electronic records p60
Insurers are looking for in-network profits p60
Siemens's cancer therapy p62
Dodging the Cadillac tax p63

Expert tips on how to do everything better

Be a Mentor p80 Interview Someone p87 Run a Meeting p84
Remember Names and Faces p82 Get a Star to Use Your Product p86
Write a Thank-You Note p104 Give Away $5 Billion p83 Tweet p100
Protect Your Online Reputation p101 Save Europe p90 Buy a Fish p100
Decant Wine with a Blender p86 Network p108 Spot a Fraud p88
Run a Bookstore p106 Play Basketball with the President p97
Work Out in the Office p92 Short China p81 Give Away $100 p83
Hack the Pentagon p94 Give the Perfect TED Talk p95 Blow the Whistle p95
Concentrate p81 Fix American Manufacturing p89
Look Good in a Corporate Photo p98 Get a Raise p101 Buy a Suit p90
Pay People p89 Be a CIO p102 Handle a Crisis p104 Pitch a VC p107
Hide (and Find) Assets p93 Work Under Pressure p106