

Opening Remarks

6

Herman Cain is a front-runner. But what exactly is he running for?

Bloomberg View A Powell doctrine for Europe; deep storage for alternative energy p10

Global Economics

13

Productivity's big fade
A new Labor Dept. measure of worker output points to slower income gains and fewer jobs

The trouble with Europe's latest rescue plan p15

India's anti-corruption law has a high human cost p15

Asian casinos rising p17

Seven days ahead p18

Companies & Industries

21

Netflix rewinds
CEO Reed Hastings' abrupt turnabouts on pricing have alienated customers

Chevy through the years p22

Carrefour stumbles p23

Harley's hard road in China p24

Briefs p25

Charlie Rose talks to Wipro's Azim Premji p26

Politics & Policy

28

Cain's other tax plan
The GOP candidate's 9-9-9 Plan is just a step toward what he really wants: the "FairTax"

Odd bargains went into closing trade pacts p30

The blame game over South Carolina's slump p32

What the protesters, left and right, have in common p33

Technology

35

Set my Facebook free!
Corporate firewalls weren't built to handle today's Web. Palo Alto Networks aims to change that

The one-armed bandit finds friends online p36

Click-to-call ads click p37

Kickstarter's babies p40

Innovator: John Rogers's bendable microprocessors p42

Markets & Finance

45

Sexy stockpicker
Former TARP chief Neel Kashkari has another tough job: Running Pimco's equity division

Banking on shale gas to preserve wetlands p46

Pay cuts and layoffs make bankers apprehensive p47

Ongoing overdraft fees p48

Bid & Ask: The week's deals p49

Enterprise

57

Gay wedding windfall
With same-sex marriage legal in New York, small businesses are ready to reap millions

A payday-loan alternative p58

Naples's Sabox turns trash into furniture and packaging p59

Battling state efforts to require eligibility checks on hires p60

The case for patient capital p62

Dynasties, trades, superrich athletes—it's all part of the spectacle of sports business

SPORTS ISSUE

