

2 | Conversation 4 | For the Record

The Brief

News from the U.S. and around the world

5 | Politics prevents clear answers on the origins of COVID-19

7 | ISIS sees a chance for a comeback

8 | The weak link in the food supply chain

9 | Bollywood loses Rishi Kapoor

10 | TIME with ... Top Chef host Padma Lakshmi

12 | Disneyland without the crowds

The View

Ideas, opinion, innovations

15 | Health care workers can be heroes without being compared to soldiers

17 | Ian Bremmer on America's advantages post-coronavirus

17 | Pandemic email etiquette

18 | Belinda Luscombe on not going it alone

19 | Colum McCann on how the virus could teach us to change

Features

Without a Net

How COVID-19 triggered an economic collapse that has put millions on the edge of ruin

By Alana Semuels 20

Plus: Faces of the crisis 23

Viewpoint: This pandemic should be a pivot point
By Rutger Bregman 34

Criminal Obsession

Locked-down viewers are devouring true crime. The families of victims are not enjoying the show
By Melissa Chan 36

Bee Attitudes

Learning from Slovenia, where beekeepers are deemed essential workers
By Mélissa Godin 40

Time Off

What to watch, read,
see and do

45 | Podcasts to help close the distance

48 | Television: Mark Ruffalo as twins in I Know This Much Is True; cool jazz in The Eddy; legal saga in the docuseries Trial by Media

50 | Books: A new memoir from Bill Buford, a novel from Anna Solomon and poetry by Jenny Zhang

52 | 8 Questions for likely third-party candidate Justin Amash

Workers at Iron Gate, a soup kitchen and grocery pantry in Tulsa, Okla., which has served more than 1,300 households since March 15—an increase of roughly 40% from the same time last year

Photograph by September Dawn
Bottoms for TIME