

WHAT'S THE MATTER WITH CHARLIE? PAGE 40

'Kenneth Feinberg believes expedited settlement funds, such as for 9/11, make for very bad policy.'

LLOYD GROVE PAGE 8

2 LETTERS & CONTRIBUTORS

4 PERISCOPE

Welcome to the "Sheeniverse." By Tina Brown

NEWSBEAST

7 NATIONAL NOTEBOOK

At last, conservatives are leaving their (bite) mark on Hollywood. By Michelle Cottle

8 PERSON OF INTEREST

How much is a life worth? Kenneth Feinberg does the math. By Lloyd Grove

9 INTERNATIONAL

Bossy Aussie. By Tunku Varadarajan

10 RIGHTS

Entitled to a fair shot. By Barack Obama

12 SPORTS

By Trevor Butterworth

HEALTH By E.J. Graff

MONEY By Rob Cox

16 NEWS GALLERY

Justice for a predator.

18 POLITICS

Don't blame politicians for acting politically—that's their job. By Paul Begala

19 COMPASS

What Israel knows, and doesn't know, will change the world. By Niall Ferguson

20 REPORTER AT LARGE

This November, voters will decide if embryos are people, too. By Abigail Pesta

FEATURES

22 The Digital 100

They've made billions and toppled regimes. Now they want to rewire your world.

34 The Tyrant's Brutal Legacy

As Egypt's democracy fights for its life, Hosni Mubarak is at death's door. By Tarek Masoud

40 Charlie Sheen's Last Stand

Hollywood's enfant terrible is back with a new show. Despite Anger Management, he's still unhinged, unchanged, and unrepentant.

By Michael Ware

46 Get the Old Off the Road

They're the worst drivers—and we're too scared to tell them so. If we don't push back, they'll steal our benefits and bankrupt the country.

By David Frum

50 The Electroshock Novelist

The bad boy of literary England has always been fascinated by Britain's dustbin empire. Now Martin Amis turns an eye to American excess.

By Sam Tanenhaus

OMNIVORE

57 TV Aaron Sorkin's chatty idealists.

58 FILM Emma Stone revealed.

60 MY FAVORITE MISTAKE

Marina Abramović on her failed attempt to look like Brigitte Bardot.