

IMRAN KHAN, PAKISTAN'S NEXT PRIME MINISTER? PAGE 24

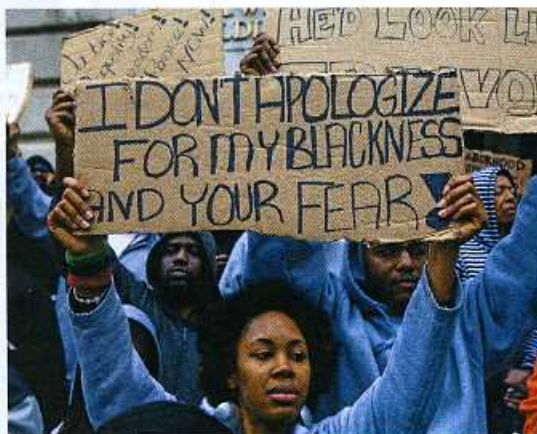

'If the competition to become the World Bank's next president were a normal process, Jim Yong Kim wouldn't stand a chance.'

ROB COX PAGE 6

BECOMING "THE LADY" PAGE 53

THE MEANING OF TRAYVON MARTIN PAGE 40

2 LETTERS & CONTRIBUTORS

4 PERISCOPE

America, beset by race. By Tina Brown

NEWSBEAST

5 NOTEBOOK

Morning TV news cops out. By Howard Kurtz

6 PERSON OF INTEREST

Jim Yong Kim for World Bank chief.

By Rob Cox

7 INTERNATIONAL

Provocative poetry, prohibited cheese.

By Tunku Varadarajan

9 CRIME

11,000 rape kits—untested. By Abigail Pesta

11 BUSINESS

By Dan Lyons

MONEY By Christopher Elliott

HEALTH By Britt Peterson

13 SOCIAL DIARIES

Are boys' clubs done for? By Rebecca Dana

14 MY TURN

The father I knew. By Justine Harman

16 NEWS GALLERY

DSK back in the game; bombs in Somalia.

20 POLITICS

Mitt's veep pick: you think you know, but ...

By Paul Begala

22 COMPASS

Obama boosters, delirious. By Niall Ferguson

24 REPORTER AT LARGE

Pakistan's next hope is a playboy. By Mike Giglio

FEATURES

28 All in the Family

Dr. Phil hawks diet books; his son publishes them. Inside the cozy McGraw clan.

By Pat Wingert and Aram Roston

RACE IN AMERICA

34 The Devil in Deryl Dedmon

An investigative report into the horrific murder of a black man in Mississippi.

By Tony Dokoupil

40 Is Obama Making It Worse?

Exclusive poll reveals huge racial divide.

By Andrew Romano and Allison Samuels

42 Never Argue With a Man With a Gun

The meaning of race. By Walter Mosley

44 If I Had a Son, He'd Look Like

George Zimmerman

Implications of appearance. By Paul Theroux

46 The Amazon of Luxury

Susan Lyne got women addicted to Gilt

Groupe; next up: Wall Street. By Nancy Hass

OMNIVORE

51 MUSIC

Double the Coachella magic.

53 WANT

Lanvin high-tops and graphic T's.

54 BOOKS

Pigeon pie, anyone?

56 MY FAVORITE MISTAKE

Steven Tyler on dressing like a lady.

ON THE COVER

PHOTO ILLUSTRATION BY BLUEKIT