

CONTENTS

NOVEMBER 2017 • VOL. 232 • NO. 5 • OFFICIAL JOURNAL OF THE NATIONAL GEOGRAPHIC SOCIETY

FRONT

FROM THE EDITOR

A conversation with Martha Raddatz (above) about The Long Road Home from war.

VISIONS

EXPLORE

Sustainability: Help from kelp, locally grown flowers, the perils of Parisian pipis

On the Cover A swimmer revels in the Llanos de Cortés waterfall, a favorite with locals around Bagaces, Costa Rica. That nation ranks as one of the happiest on Earth, says author Dan Buettner. Photo by James Kaiser

Corrections and Clarifications
Go to natgeo.com/corrections.

PHOTO: ADAM FERGUSON (RADDATZ)

FEATURES

114 | WHY VACCINES MATTER

Children in poor nations often go without the vaccines that rich nations take for granted. As a result, hundreds of thousands of young lives that could have been saved are lost.

By Cynthia Gorney Photographs by William Daniels

30 | THE WORLD'S HAPPIEST PLACES

First the author identified five areas where people live the longest, healthiest lives. Now he's finding the places where three elements of happiness—pleasure, purpose, and pride—come together “to create lasting joy.”

By Dan Buettner
Photographs by Cory Richards and Matthieu Paley

60 | PTEROSAURS

Some of the weirdest animals ever to fly soared through Mesozoic skies.

By Richard Conniff
Photographs by Robert Clark

104 | THE UNCHOSEN

A photographer's ode to animals that didn't win in county fair contests.

Story and Photographs by R. J. Kern

80 | THE RUSH TO SAVE OKAVANGO

Can one of Earth's great deltas be protected?

By David Quammen
Photographs by Cory Richards

136 | LAST GLANCE AT NORTH KOREA

A U.S. tourist group visits just before the travel ban.

By Daniel Stone, Photographs by David Guttenfelder

ELSEWHERE

BOOKS

ASTRONAUT CAPTURES 'VIEW FROM ABOVE'

NASA astronaut Terry Virts has been a space shuttle pilot, a crew member on a Soyuz spacecraft, and a commander on the International Space Station (right). He's spent more than 200 days in space—and during most of them, he's taken photos. The new book View From Above presents 300 of Virts's breathtaking images, as well as reflections on how life aloft has shaped him. It's available where books are sold and at shopng.com/books.

TELEVISION

'THE STORY OF US' CONTINUES

Morgan Freeman looks at the forces that shape societies around the globe—war and peace, love and belief, power and freedom—in the series The Story of Us. It airs Wednesdays through November 15 at 9/8c on National Geographic.

Subscriptions For subscriptions or changes, call 1-800-NGS-LINE (647-5463). Outside our subscriber names available to companies you prefer not to be included, you may request to opt out of future direct mail requests to DMA Choice, c/o Data & Marketing.

NATIONAL GEOGRAPHIC (ISSN 0027-9358) PERIODICALS POSTAGE PAID AT WASHINGTON, DC. POSTAGE WILL BE PAID BY ADDRESSEE. CANADA AGREEMENT NUMBER 40063648. POSTAGE IN CANADA: REPRI. EN FRANCE EMD FRANCE SA, BP 11, 20182 MILANO, AUT. TRIB. MI 256 26/6/94. MEMBERS: IF THE POSTAL SERVICE ALERTS