

CONTENTS

A lot of things need to go right to keep the record-breaking U.S. economy growing 4

ECONOMICS & POLITICS

- One thing stands in the way of recession: Your shopping habit 8
- We're investing billions in renewables—yet coal plants persist 10
- Trump's scariest political foe in 2020: A souring economy 11
- In a Mideast plot twist, Israel will go to the World Expo in Dubai 12
- Central banks can't go any lower. Time for stimulus spending? 14
- As Taiwan heads to the polls, China pulls a Russian maneuver 16
- Oil is still flowing in the Permian, but the cash may be drying up 18
- Q&A: Governor Mark Carney of the Bank of England 19
- Bolsonaro's one non-controversial move: Brazilian pension reform 19
- In Spain, Israel, and the U.K., a strong chance of elections 20

TECHNOLOGY

- China is losing its grip on the chip 24
- Is 2020 the year you finally get your sci-fi glasses? 26
- California dreaming—solar panels on every roof!—will soon be reality 28
- Hot Seat: Ginni Rometty, CEO of IBM 29
- The multibillion-dollar war to deliver your pad thai 30
- Elon Musk is building Teslas in Shanghai 32
- Q&A: Paul Scanlan, CTO of Huawei's carrier network business 32
- Searching the web, all roads lead to Google 34

ANTITRUST

- The techlash would have made Teddy Roosevelt proud 36
- A guide to antitrust terms 38
- The new trustbusters 39
- What exactly is Bill Barr up to? 40
- How Google rules the advertising world 41
- So far, the tech probes don't seem to bother investors 42
- Being big isn't necessarily illegal 43
- Warren's plan to slice and dice Alphabet, Amazon, and Facebook 44
- Global approaches to enforcement 46

CONSUMER

- Are you ready to fly on a Boeing 737 Max? 48
- VW bets on an electric future to bury Dieselpgate in its past 50
- Q&A: Joe Lusardi, Curaleaf CEO 51
- The Chinese weren't keen on Made in China either—until Trump 51
- Netflix finally gets some serious competition 52
- Big Tobacco has just the thing for anxious vapers: Cigarettes 54
- Hot Seat: The American Dream (No, not that one. The mall in New Jersey) 54
- For a price—a lower price—China will speed up drug approvals 56
- It's better to be Walmart or Gucci than the Gap 60

MARKETS

- Wall Street tries to wrap its head around "President Warren" 64
- Mommy, what was an IPO? 66
- The rent is still too damn high, but many places are taking action 67
- Will Treasuries follow other sovereign bonds into negative territory? 68
- CLOs helped fuel the boom. They may help end it, too 69
- Q&A: Howard Marks, co-chairman of Oaktree Capital 70

LUXURY

- Commercial galleries are the new museums. And, guess what, they're free! 72
- Getting people of color onto the craft beer bandwagon 72
- Q&A: Gordon Wagener, chief design officer at Daimler 74
- Luxury falls under the influence of social media 75
- Raising delicious chicken—without all those messy chickens 76
- Simplify your beauty regimen with a handheld makeup printer 76
- Wines for a warmer world. Swedish chardonnay, anyone? 78
- Using carbon-curbing seaweed to make jerky and gin 79
- The African university reclaiming conservation for Africans 80
- Hot Seat: Leslie Wexner of Victoria's Secret 80

50 COMPANIES

- The businesses that will make news next year 83

HOW'D WE DO LAST YEAR?

- Brexit didn't happen last March—will it ever?—but we got some stuff right 96